

The Lost Lands...
Teesdale
Lost to Co Durham
in 1974

The Lost Lands...
Sedburgh, Garsdale
and Dentdale Lost to Cumbria in 1974

The Lost Lands...
Stockton, Middlesbrough and Redcar Lost to Cleveland in 1974. Now unitary authority areas.

'Ceremonially' part of North Yorkshire

The Lost Lands...
The East Riding
Lost to Humberside in 1974. Recovered in 1996 and reinstated as the East Riding of Yorkshire

The Lost Lands...
Bowland and Barnoldswick
Lost to Lancashire
in 1974

Todmorden Grew up on Lancashire side of River Calder but spilled over onto West Riding side and became split between two counties until 1888 when placed entirely in West Riding

The Lost Lands...
Saddleworth
'Returned' to Greater Manchester in 1974 (part of Rochdale in 1822)

The Lost Lands...
Eastoft
Once split between the West Riding and Lincolnshire. Moved into Humberside in 1974. Finally lost to Lincolnshire in 1996

Boundaries of original Yorkshire Ridings (9th century to 1974) shown in black Modern county and other boundaries shown in yellow Original map copyright Colin Hinson, Genuki Yorkshire Modified with permission by West Winds Yorkshire Tearooms, copyright 2009

Greater Yorkshire

